Jazz grew up in and around New Orleans, Louisiana, spreading out to Chicago and New York City later. Jazz is a mixture of different styles of music and traditions. When Africans were forced to come to the U.S. as slaves, they brought their own ways of making music. They also heard other kinds of music such as brass bands, gospel music, and Spanish music. All these different kinds of music were mixed together. The result was jazz.

- _____ (B): Jazz was not played just from written notes. Many jazz musicians could not even read music. Instead, much of the music was improvised.

-Musical notes that were 'Bent' or 'Slurred' are common in jazz. These notes are called 'Blue Notes' and can sound sad, happy, or angry.

-In jazz, the rhythm or beat comes from different instruments in the band, not just the drum. The other instruments in a jazz band are the cornet, trumpet, violin, alto saxophone, slide trombone, double bass, grand piano, clarinet, guitar, or banjo.

You might not know it, but there are many ㉠ valuable materials all around our cities. You might even have some in your pockets right now. We are not talking about gold rings or ㉡ jewelry. We are talking about ㉢ personal electronics.

We live in a world where people dispose of old electronics without a second thought. Electronics that people don't use anymore and throw away are called '㉣ e-waste.'

How can we solve the problem of e-waste? 'Urban Mining' is one way. [A] E-waste contains large amounts of ㉤ valuable metals such as gold, iron, and copper. [B] Getting gold from old electronics is better than digging it from the earth. That's why it's called 'Urban Mining'. [C] First, the earth does not have enough materials to keep making things forever. So, it's better to recycle materials than to dig them from the ground. [D] Second, if people keep throwing away their electronics, it will lead to mountains of e-waste. 'Urban Mining' helps materials to go back to the places where they came. [E] 'Urban Mining' is the process of finding not only valuable materials, but also value from waste materials. Why don't you try finding value from things around you?
